DEFENCE EXPENDITURES OF NATO COUNTRIES

1949 - 1964

The figures given in the attached table represent payments actually made or to be made during the course of the calendar year. They are based on the NATO definition of defence expenditures. In view of the differences between this and national definitions, the figures shown may diverge considerably from those which are quoted by national authorities or given in national budgets.

The figures relating to the United States and Canada include expenditures for military aid programmes. The figures shown for European NATO countries do not include the value of end-items received under military aid programmes from the United States and Canada.

a. Before it acceded to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (May 1955), the Federal Republic of Germany contributed to the defence budgets of certain NATO countries by the payment of occupation costs; moreover, it bore certain other costs which also fall within the NATO definition of defence expenditures. The total given in the column for 1953 represents the expenditures made under these various heads for the fiscal year 1953/54 (1 April - 31 March). The figures for the years prior to fiscal year 1953/54 have not been communicated to the Secretariat. In addition to defence expenditures (NATO definition), the German authorities are obliged to incur large annual expenditures for Berlin owing to the exceptional situation of this city and the need, in the interests of the defence of the free world, to ensure its viability. These expenditures, which are not included in the figures given above since they do not come within the NATO definition, amounted to DM 1,851 million in 1963.

b. The totals for Europe and for NATO do not include defence expenditures of the Federal Republic of Germany for the period prior to 1955, and for this reason they are not directly comparable to the totals for the following years.
