General Situation

Since February 2022, Russia has systematically targeted civilian and critical energy infrastructure to disrupt daily life, exhaust rescue services, and terrorise the population of Ukraine.
On October 7, 2026, the city of Pryluky in the Chernihiv Oblast was targeted by a Russian missile and drone attack. A Russian cruise missile struck a five-story apartment block, demolishing a section of the building. The shockwaves damaged 125 residential homes and severed the local gas pipeline, leaving the city without power.
The attack in Pryluky was part of a larger, coordinated overnight Russian barrage that launched 130 drones and dozens of ballistic and cruise missiles at civilian infrastructure across the country.
