

NATO-UKRAINE ANNUAL TARGET PLAN FOR 2006 IN THE FRAMEWORK OF NATO-UKRAINE ACTION PLAN

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

I. INTERNAL POLITICAL ISSUES

1. Ukraine's highest domestic political priority for 2006 is the strengthening of democratic and electoral institutions. On 7 July 2005, the Verkhovna Rada passed an updated law on the election of parliamentary deputies, taking into account OSCE recommendations following the 2002 parliamentary elections and the 2004 presidential election. The Ukrainian authorities are committed to ensuring the implementation of this law according to international standards for the election to the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine in March 2006, including by facilitating the activity of observers from foreign states and international organisations. Ukraine will ensure free, fair and equal access of candidates to mass media and election campaign coverage in compliance with legal and professional journalistic standards, in accordance with OSCE recommendations.

2. At the same time, Ukraine will introduce political reforms to enhance the role of the parliament, and improve checks and balances between legislative and executive powers. Legislation will be introduced to delineate more clearly the institutional roles of the President of Ukraine, the Cabinet of Ministers, and the authority and functions of ministries and other central executive authorities, and to reinforce the independence and effectiveness of local self-government.

3. Throughout 2006, Ukraine will continue to strengthen the rule of law and promote the fundamental rights and freedoms of its citizens. 24 of 29 commitments in this area made to the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe in 1995 (Summary #190), have been implemented, and the remaining five will be implemented by the end of 2006. These include:

- adoption of new Criminal and Procedural Codes;
- reform of prosecutorial authority;
- ratification of the European Social Charter;
- transfer of responsibility for the penitentiary system to the Ministry of Justice; and
- transfer of responsibility for registration of individuals entering and leaving Ukraine to the Ministry of Justice.

4. In order to strengthen the authority and independence of the judiciary, Ukraine will reform the State Judicial Administration, and transfer it from the executive to the judicial branch, in accordance with a commitment made to the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe (Resolution #1466). This will help to ensure a judiciary establishment that is self-sufficient for administrative support and for the training, attestation, selection, and appointment of judges (excluding presidential prerogatives to appoint a portion of Constitutional Court justices). Further reform of the judicial system will be conducted on the basis of the recommendations of a presidentially-appointed Judicial Reform Commission, expected by the end of 2005.

5. Ukraine is firmly committed to strengthening guarantees of freedom of expression, including freedom of the press and free access to information. To this end, in 2006 Ukraine will strengthen existing legislation designed to protect the professional activities of journalists and to ensure freedom of information, and will guarantee its full implementation. Ukraine will also take action to prevent the monopolisation of national mass media agencies and to create preconditions for entry into a common European information space, notably through implementation of the European Convention on Trans-border Television Broadcasting, and revision of Ukraine's Information Code in accordance with Council of Europe standards.

6. Throughout the coming year, Ukraine will continue to facilitate the development and strengthening of civil society and civic freedoms, notably through the adoption of legislation guaranteeing the right of peaceful assembly. Ukraine will also improve legislation and procedures regarding detention, arrest, and treatment of prisoners in order to implement recommendations of the European Committee on prevention of torture. Access to the judicial system will be improved through the creation of free judicial consultative centres at the local level. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs will work with the International Organisation for Migration to improve Ukraine's migration policy and its legislation on migration and ethnic minorities.

7. Ukraine will continue to strengthen civilian, democratic control over the Armed Forces and the whole security sector. The Ministry of Defence will strengthen further its system of democratic management and oversight, in close co-operation with NATO and Allied experts. Ukraine will increase the proportion of civilian personnel in the central apparatus of the Ministries of Defence and the Interior, and will take concrete steps to improve their qualifications, with Allied support, as agreed by Defence Ministers in October 2005. Public boards will be established at the Ministries of Defence, the Interior and Emergencies, and at the State Border Guard Service and other executive authorities, in order to improve interaction between these authorities and non-governmental public organisations, in turn facilitating independent assessment of defence and security sector reform efforts. Structural units responsible for liaison with mass media and public relations, and for civil-military cooperation (J9, CIMIC) will be established in every MOD branch. The MOD will also improve the efficiency of public information on the activities and the reform of the Armed Forces of Ukraine, especially through publication of a second edition of a white book on the Armed Forces activities.

8. Finally, Ukraine will intensify its fight against corruption, in particular, through the development, in 2006, of a national strategy and action plan. In order to combat money laundering and terrorist financing, Ukraine will adapt its legislation to international standards, especially in support of continued implementation of Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering (FATF) recommendations (40 Recommendations and 9 Special Recommendations). Ukraine will actively participate in the training for specialists on financial monitoring.

II. FOREIGN AND SECURITY POLICY

9. Ukraine will continue to pursue full integration into the Alliance, taking full advantage of all existing mechanisms in the framework of the NATO-Ukraine Distinctive Partnership and the Intensified Dialogue. Throughout 2006, Ukraine will build upon its already strong contribution to regional and global stability. It will intensify efforts to resolve frozen conflicts, including through the Transdniestrian Settlement Plan and through the promotion of a peaceful resolution to the Georgia-Abkhazia conflict. Ukraine will promote a politically negotiated and lasting solution to the Transdniestrian conflict based on the principle of sovereignty and territorial integrity of Moldova. Ukraine is committed to the implementation of the border monitoring agreement with the EU. It will work to promote regional democratisation through the Ukrainian-Georgian Initiative on the Community of Democratic Choice. Ukraine will continue to keep over 1500 personnel involved in eleven peace support and crisis response operations worldwide, including operations led by NATO or together with Allies. Ukraine will remain a contributor to KFOR and is committed to joining NATO's Training Mission-Iraq (NTM-I) and Operation Active Endeavour (OAE). In 2006, Ukraine will also seek to increase its support to the International Security Assistance Force in Afghanistan (ISAF), and will stand ready to contribute to NATO's logistic support of the African Union in Darfur, Sudan. Ukraine joins other Black Sea countries including NATO members Bulgaria, Romania and Turkey, in its commitment to promote trust and security in the Black Sea, including through active participation in the Black Sea Naval Cooperation Task Group (BLACKSEAFOR) and the Black Sea Economic Cooperation Organisation (BSECO), as well as through cooperation with the border authorities of the riparian states.

10. At the same time, Ukraine continues to place high priority on maintaining good relations with its neighbours. It will work to ensure improvement and effective implementation of bilateral and multinational agreements to strengthen confidence-building measures in cross-boundary regions with neighbouring NATO member states (Hungary, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, as well as Black Sea littoral states Bulgaria and Turkey). Ukraine remains committed to the principle that border and inter-ethnic disputes should be resolved through peaceful means and in accordance with International Law. Following up on the successful delimitation of the country's land borders with these countries, in 2006 Ukraine will work actively to finalise the delimitation of maritime borders. Ukraine will also continue negotiations with Russia on the delimitation of the maritime border in the Kerch Straits and Azov Sea, and the demarcation of the Ukrainian-Russian land border. Ukraine will continue to work with Belarus to secure the latter's ratification of the border treaty (which Ukraine ratified in 1997), so that demarcation of that border can begin. Ukraine will continue to work constructively with Romania through bilateral consultations, as well as at the International Court of Justice in The Hague, to resolve matters regarding continental shelf and exclusive economic zones in the Black Sea. Ukraine will promote a structural process of democratisation of the Transdniestrian region of the Republic of Moldova, under international coordination guidance and monitoring, to ensure implementation of democratic standards and fundamental rights and freedoms.

11. Ukraine remains fully committed to the fight against terrorism and to efforts to combat proliferation. Ukraine will continue to implement the Partnership Action Plan on Terrorism and strengthen efforts to ensure strict controls over the export of armaments. It will deepen bilateral relations with NATO intelligence services and law-enforcement authorities, and will work toward the establishment of an Integrated International Data Base of individuals linked to terrorist organisations. In the coming year, Ukraine will also ratify international arrangements on extradition of suspects and coordination of criminal prosecutions. Ukraine plans develop special units within the Armed Forces of Ukraine for anti-terrorist operations, including through the training of command and control bodies. Ukraine also plans to involve troops of the Ministry of the Interior in international programmes to fight terrorism. Ukraine continues to ensure full implementation of its international commitments, and to provide information to relevant international bodies. In this respect, Ukraine will update legislation to conform to decisions taken in the framework of international export control regimes.

12. Finally, Ukraine is finalising the development of the national system of coordination of NATO-Ukraine cooperation, under the direction of the President of Ukraine. This process will be supported by interagency working groups, focused on the most important areas of NATO-Ukraine cooperation.

III. DEFENCE AND SECURITY SECTOR REFORM

13. In 2006, Ukraine will intensify efforts to ensure the further implementation of national security sector reform, based upon a comprehensive overall review of the national security sector in accordance with NATO standards. In this context, Ukraine will adapt its law-enforcement authorities to European standards: a fundamental reform of the Ministry of the Interior will seek to clarify the status, tasks and missions of the Interior Troops, to ensure that their basic mission will be to protect the fundamental rights of citizens by contributing to the maintenance of law and order within the society. The draft “Integrated Programme on Reconstruction and Development of the State Boundary to 2015” will provide a framework for the further reform of the Border Guard, and Ukraine is currently developing recommendations on intelligence sector reform.

14. Implementation of defence reform in 2006 will be guided by the State Programmes for the Development of Ukraine’s Armed Forces 2006-2011 and for the Development of Armaments and Military Equipment to 2009, both of which were approved by the Cabinet of Ministers in September 2005 and shared with NATO member states. Ukraine’s Armed Forces and other military formations highly value the NATO Planning and Review Process (PARP), and are committed to the full implementation of Partnership Goals (PGs). In spring 2006, Ukraine will review its PGs to ensure they are in line with these State Programmes, as well as current ministerial priorities, available resources, and international defence cooperation programmes. Ukraine will continue to use the NATO-Ukraine Joint Working Group on Defence Reform (JWGDR) and other appropriate NATO-Ukraine and bilateral mechanisms to help address current challenges in the area of national defence and security sector reform. Ukraine will also strengthen its use of NATO-Ukraine mechanisms to promote more effective harmonisation of national, multilateral, and bilateral programs.

15. Throughout 2006, Ukraine will continue to improve its national system of defence policy, planning and budgeting, as a key means of ensuring democratic, civilian management. Priorities in this area include the development of a 2007 budget on a programme basis, the transition to a capabilities-based planning system, and the introduction of an integrated information system. Ukraine will also seek to improve the efficiency and transparency of policy, planning, and budgeting processes throughout the wider security sector, including for law-enforcement authorities and intelligence services. Ukraine welcomes the participation of Allied and NATO experts in these processes, and will make active use of available PfP and bilateral training and education programmes in these areas.

16. At the same time, Ukraine will continue to enhance its ability to support NATO-led peace support and crisis response operations. Command and control of the Armed Forces Joint Rapid Reaction Force units will be improved by the establishment of a NATO-compatible operational command. In the course of 2006, this command will assume control of forces and personnel assigned to international operations. By the end of 2008, it will also assume control of all inter-service missions of the Armed Forces. Ukraine will continue to strengthen the interoperability of NATO/PfP-designated units, especially through application of NATO standards for military units and equipment. Ukraine will also continue to improve interagency coordination and liaison between the Ministry of Defence, the Armed Forces, the Ministry of the Interior, the Ministry of Emergencies, the Security Service of Ukraine, and the State Border Guard Service, particularly in the area of CRM and CEP. Ukraine will work to introduce a NATO-compatible air SAR system, supported by consultations in the framework of the NATO Air Traffic Management Committee.

17. Ukraine also plans to participate in the NATO Program of Air Situation Data Exchange (ASDE) and the Regional Airspace Initiative, as a means of improving national procedures for civil-military coordination and for providing support to NATO in case of aviation emergencies or terrorist acts. Consultations with NATO on interoperability in object recognition will facilitate this process.

18. Ukraine is accelerating practical efforts to implement a transition to a fully professional Armed Forces. Following the reduction in the term of conscription from 18 to 12 months, 2006 will see the implementation of a pilot project by which one brigade in each service (Army, Navy and Air Force) will move to a full volunteer (i.e. contract-manning) system by the end of the year. Professionalisation will be supported by the establishment of a recruiting system and the development of a professional NCO corps.

19. Ukraine stands ready to increase its participation in NATO-led operations, including PSOs/CROs and in the struggle against terrorism. In 2006, Ukraine will continue its long-standing contribution to KFOR, and will begin practical cooperation in the framework of Operation ACTIVE ENDEAVOUR (OAE) through the establishment of a contact point in the Naval HQ in Sevastopol. Training of a maritime contingent continues, with an eye toward possible deployment in OAE in the second half of 2006, in accordance with the Exchange of Letters signed on 21 April 2005, including the logistic provisions contained therein. Preparations continue for Ukraine's contribution of experts to assist the NATO Training Mission-Iraq (NTM-I). In support of ISAF, Ukraine will continue to provide overflight rights in the framework of the HNS MOU, and intends to conclude a transit agreement with NATO and facilitate the increased use of its air transit capability. The Government of Ukraine will promote the ratification of the MoU with NATO on strategic airlift.

In conformity with Ukraine's dedication to regional initiatives, Ukraine will also continue to contribute to BLACKSEAFOR and work toward participation in the Turkish-led naval operation Black Sea Harmony. Ukraine will pursue full membership in the Council of Ministers of Defence of Countries of South-East Europe (SEDM) and make a military contribution to the Multinational Peacemaking Forces of South-East Europe (SEEBrig).

20. Ukraine will also, with the assistance of NATO and NATO member states, intensify efforts to address legacy issues of resettling redundant servicemen and eliminating surplus munitions. Ukraine looks forward to working with NATO experts to improve its internal resettlement system and plans, to pursue clean-up of the former munitions storage site at Novobohdanyvka, and to improve the safety, security and lifecycle management of munitions. Ukraine intends to increase budget resources targeted to all of these problems, but given the overwhelming scale of these challenges, very much appreciates NATO support in the form of Trust Funds for resettlement and elimination of munitions, SALW, and MANPADs. Ukraine will promote cooperation with Allies, especially the new members, in order to benefit from their experience in the sphere of civil-military relations.

IV. PUBLIC INFORMATION

21. In 2006, Ukraine will make a concerted effort to increase public awareness about the Alliance and the NATO-Ukraine Distinctive Partnership. In this context, it will work to strengthen cooperation between state authorities and non-governmental organisations, and to increase the involvement of local administrations in NATO-Ukraine cooperative projects. In carrying this effort forward, the Ukrainian authorities will work closely with the NATO-Ukraine Civic League and the NATO Information and Documentation Centre (NIDC) in Kyiv to organise conferences, roundtables, and workshops on Ukraine's aspirations to membership in Alliance.

22. Ukraine will also ensure full implementation of the State Programme of Public Information on Ukraine's Euro-Atlantic Integration for 2004-2007, including their adequate financing in accordance with an October 2005 Presidential Decree. The State Television and Radio Committee, in cooperation with the National Centre on Euro-Atlantic Integration of Ukraine, will continue to monitor public opinion on NATO-Ukraine cooperation and Ukraine's Euro-Atlantic integration policy through semi-annual polling. These polls will seek to identify common public misperceptions, and the results will support recommendations for coordination of a national information policy in this area.

V. INFORMATION SECURITY

23. In consultation with NATO experts, the Security Service of Ukraine will introduce measures to ensure adequate protection of NATO classified information by all state authorities, enterprises and institutions with access to such information. In 2006, Ukraine plans to introduce a NATO-compatible information network and a secure telephone communication network on the basis of resources provided by the national system of confidential communication. It is also planned to continue training experts in the protection of classified information (documents and INFOSEC system), including at relevant Allied educational institutions.

24. In addition, Ukraine plans to establish high-speed secure communications between Ukraine's Mission to NATO and relevant central executive authorities in Kyiv in the first half of 2006. The Security Service of Ukraine will work with the NATO Office of Security and relevant Allied authorities to ensure effective protection of classified information sent by Ukraine to NATO.

VI. ECONOMIC ISSUES

25. Throughout 2006, Ukraine will promote sustained economic development through the implementation of a national policy to ensure stable growth of annual GDP by 7.0%, maintain inflation at less than 9.0%, and increase real income growth by 11.9%*. To promote trade-driven growth, Ukraine plans to complete negotiations on Ukraine's accession to the World Trade Organisation (WTO) by April 2006, and to complete the ratification of relevant protocols and internal legislation by October 2006. Ukraine also plans to promote growth in 2006 by implementing the State Programme of Reform and Development of the Defence-Industrial Complex to 2010, and by developing the State Programme of Promoting the Competitiveness of Ukraine's Economy. While promoting growth, Ukraine will act to provide adequate social protections. It will modernise its pension system, moving toward an accumulation-type system for obligatory state pension insurance, and update relevant legislation.

26. In order to guarantee property rights and a stable, predictable investment climate, Ukraine will enhance transparency and efficiency in privatisation processes. Ukraine will also bring legislation on the economic rights and freedoms of citizens, including intellectual property rights, into compliance with international standards. Specific actions in 2006 will include amendments to the laws "On the author's rights and related rights" and "On the reservation of trade marks, geographical names and commercial titles."

27. Throughout 2006, Ukraine will pursue national energy security, diversifying fuel and energy sources and ensuring the security of transit oil and gas pipelines on the territory of Ukraine, in particular through the launch of strategic projects including "Eurasian Oil Transport Corridor", and the establishment of a Joint State Energy Crisis Management Centre.

28. Ukraine will seek to strengthen further NATO-Ukraine economic cooperation through consultations in the framework of the NATO-Ukraine Joint Working Group on Economic Security. Internal actions to support this will include the drafting of a State Programme of Ukraine-Allies Economic Cooperation to 2010 and a Programme of NATO-Ukraine military and technical cooperation to 2010.

* According to data provided by the Ministry of Economy of Ukraine's, as of 29.11.2005.

VII. LEGAL ISSUES

29. Ukraine will continue to make necessary amendments to its internal laws and regulations, and develop additional international agreements as needed to simplify NATO/Allied assistance for NATO-Ukraine cooperation, and to ensure the compatibility of Ukrainian law with eventual membership in the Alliance. Ukraine will work with Allied experts to draft a concept of Host Nation Support (HNS) and develop a Ukrainian Catalogue of HNS Capabilities. Ukraine will also introduce mechanisms of VAT exemption/reimbursement for NATO/Allied forces participating in exercises on Ukraine's territory.
